

Kingsford

— —

9385 9566 1300 722 795

MAY LOSES HER JOB

May works as a cleaner in a hotel. One day when she goes to work, her boss tells her that he is giving her a 'warning' for not doing her job properly. May has never been given any warnings before. May is very worried about her job and does not understand what she has done wrong.

The next day, May's boss tells her that she does not have a job anymore, and that she should leave the workplace. May is very confused because she did not get a chance to improve her work and did not get to tell her boss her side of the story.

What can May do?

A dismissal happens when your employer tells you that you don't have a job with them anymore. Employers are allowed to dismiss workers if they:

2(e) 6(f) 23.5(s a) 4.1(r) 9.3(km(0 0 k751)) 0 1.2(e) 6.5(2(-6,f)4.2(e)b) 6.(p) 12,(1,e) 5,g-15.84(S23.5(s a) 8.1,(1,1)13.1(h4,1(e)) 13.5(b)

