Aims of the Course

- 1) Provide you with a level of understanding of research methodology and inferential data analysis procedures that will allow you to choose appropriate analysis strategies for basic experimental and non-experimental designs, and to critically evaluate analyses of published experiments
- 2) Provide you with the skills necessary to carry out these analyses using the SPSS statistical package.

Student Learning Outcomes

By the end of this course you will have:

1. an intermediate-level knowledge of research methods, enabling you to:

psychology		attribute.
Critical thinking skills	3	Lectures will raise theoretical issues regarding how to quantify and communicate probabilistic information.
Values, research and professional ethics	2	All components of the course will emphasise how to draw valid conclusions from evidence
Communication skills	2	Throughout the course, emphasis will be given to communication of the outcomes of inferential analyses. The mid-semester test and final exam will assess these skills.
Learning and application of psychology	1	Lecture material, tutorial exercises and assignment will include reference to examples of applied research.
